YOUR NURSING CAREER DESERVES A GLOBAL FUTURE

Become more than a qualified nurse.
Become an internationally prepared healthcare professional.

WELCOME

You have worked hard to become a nurse. Now it's time to take the next step toward a global career.

The USA Nursing Career Readiness & Immersion Programme is designed to help internationally trained nurses build the knowledge, confidence, and professional readiness required to pursue opportunities in the North American healthcare system.

This is not just an exam-preparation course. It is a comprehensive professional development pathway that blends academic preparation, international exposure, healthcare immersion, and employer engagement.

WHY THIS PROGRAMME IS DIFFERENT

Many nurses prepare for the NCLEX-RN through online classes or local coaching centres. These options focus primarily on exam content but they rarely provide the international exposure, workplace understanding, and professional development needed to succeed in a new healthcare environment.

THIS PROGRAMME INTEGRATES:

Structured NCLEX-RN
preparation

American classroom learning

Professional development

Communication enhancement

Healthcare exposure

Internship

THE GOAL IS NOT ONLY TO PASS AN EXAM.

THE GOAL IS TO PREPARE
GLOBALLY READY HEALTHCARE PROFESSIONALS.

THE TRANSFORMATION JOURNEY

BEFORE

You are a qualified nurse with ambition and potential — but you may face:

- Limited international exposure
- Limited understanding of U.S. healthcare systems
- Limited access to international employers
- Limited experience with global interviews

DURING

Students participate in:

- Structured academic learning
- NCLEX-RN preparation
- Professional development
- Communication enhancement
- Healthcare exposure
- Internship opportunities
- Employer engagement
- Interview preparation

AFTER

Students emerge as:

- More confident professionals
- Stronger communicators
- Better prepared interview candidates
- Familiar with American healthcare standards
- Better positioned for international opportunities

THE POWER OF INTERNATIONAL EXPOSURE

Why Studying in the United States Is About More Than Passing an Exam

While many nurses prepare for NCLEX online, international healthcare careers demand far more than exam success.

Employers look for professionals who can:

-  Communicate effectively
-  Adapt to diverse cultures
-  Work confidently in multidisciplinary teams
-  Understand international patient-care standards

These qualities are developed through real-world exposure, not classroom learning alone.

Living and Studying in the United States Helps Students Build:

- | | |
|-------------------------|-----------------------|
| ✓ Confidence | ✓ Cultural awareness |
| ✓ Communication skills | ✓ Workplace readiness |
| ✓ Professional maturity | ✓ Independence |

Learning Beyond the Classroom

- | | |
|---|--|
|  American academic standards |  Professional workplace culture |
|  Healthcare environments |  Team-based patient care |
|  Professional networking |  Real-world employer expectations |

Students are not simply travelling for a course they are investing in personal growth, professional development, and international readiness.

“The goal is not only to pass an examination. The goal is to become an internationally prepared healthcare professional.”

200-HOUR STRUCTURED LEARNING PROGRAMME

Delivered by LAVI, USA

The design ensures both exam readiness and professional confidence.

NCLEX-RN PREPARATION

The NCLEX-RN is a critical milestone in the nursing licensure journey.

This programme strengthens:

Clinical reasoning

Critical thinking

Test-taking strategies

Examination confidence

Application of knowledge

Students follow a structured approach that supports exam success while building the professional readiness expected in international healthcare settings.

PROFESSIONAL DEVELOPMENT & COMMUNICATION SKILLS

Success in healthcare requires more than clinical expertise.

Students participate in development sessions focused on:

Professional communication

Patient interaction

Workplace etiquette

Team collaboration

Professional presentation

Interview confidence

Cross-cultural communication

Behaviour in international healthcare settings

These skills help students perform effectively in global healthcare environments.

HEALTHCARE EXPOSURE & INTERNSHIP OPPORTUNITIES

Students may have opportunities to participate in structured healthcare exposure and internship activities arranged through programme partners.

Benefits include:

Exposure to healthcare operations

Understanding workplace expectations

Observation of professional standards

Familiarity with healthcare environments

Increased confidence

Insight into American healthcare culture

These experiences provide practical understanding that cannot be replicated through classroom learning alone.

EMPLOYER ENGAGEMENT & INTERVIEW OPPORTUNITIES

A key strength of this programme is direct employer engagement.

• Employer introductions

• Professional networking

• Career mentoring

• Interview preparation

• Interview opportunities

• Exposure to employer expectations

Meeting employers in person while in the United States allows students to demonstrate professionalism, communication skills, and commitment.

Important Note:

Participation in interviews does not guarantee employment, sponsorship, or visa approval. All decisions rest with employers and relevant authorities.
